Past performance isn't a guide to future performance. The figures are shown in sterling and have been calculated using actual returns since the introduction of the current DC fund range.

Indicative prices have been used if a portfolio valuation fell on a non-trading day. The fund was launched on 1st March 2018, but links to an underlying fund which has been existence for a number of years. Before 1st March 2018, performance is simulated based on data provided by Legal and General, the underlying fund provider. Thereafter, returns are produced by Fidelity on a monthly basis.

market commentary

The Japanese equity market recovered strongly in September to close the third quarter in positive territory. The direction of risk assets was determined largely by newsflow around global trade and geopolitical developments, such as Brexit and political protests in Hong Kong. Reports of a resumption in US-China trade talks buoyed market sentiment, and a combination of higher US interest rates and a weaker yen supported Japanese stocks. Monetary policy developments occurred in line with market expectations. The Bank of Japan (BoJ) maintained its existing policy following rate cuts by the European Central Bank and the US Federal Reserve. At a sector level, construction and real estate were among the strongest performers, followed by providers of consumer goods and services. Conversely, materials, commodities and communications were conspicuous laggards.

risk rating

Very Low Low Low/Medium Medium Medium/High High Very High

All investments carry a level of risk. You need to decide how much of each type of risk you're prepared to take. The table below gives an overview of some of the risks associated with this fund.

| risk type | description of risk | level of risk for this fund |
|--------------------------------|---|-----------------------------|
| Capital Risk | This is the risk that the value of your investments will fall. The younger you are, the less worried you might be about capital risk, because your investments have time to recover their value before your retire. | High |
| Inflation Risk | This is the risk that the value of your investments will grow more slowly than prices rise. Inflation can be a problem for pension savings invested in cash funds particularly if the interest you're earning is less than the rate of inflation. | Med |
| Pension Conversion Risk | The price of an annuity changes on a regular basis. This means that the amount of income you can secure with the same amount of money will change. Pension conversion risk is the risk that the amount of income you can buy drops before you retire, because your money is invested differently to annuity funds. That's why putting more of your DC pension pot into bonds to try to match annuity prices as you get closer to retirement age can help protect against this risk. | High |

About the factsheet

It is important to remember that the price of units can go down as well as up. There's no guarantee that you'll get back the amount that goes into your DC pension pot. Changes in rates of currency exchange, particularly where overseas securities are held, could also affect the value of your investment. Although the funds can typically be bought and sold on a daily basis, if an exceptional amount of withdrawals are requested, the fund manager may need to delay when you can access your holdings. All funds are provided through FIL Life Insurance Ltd and may invest in securities issued by or hold deposits with HSBC Holdings plc and associated companies. The Trustee can change the underlying managers or funds at any time without member consent or prior notification.
