market commentary

European equities ended 2018 on a negative note as markets continued to be dominated by geopolitical events in the fourth quarter. Ongoing trade worries, Brexit-related uncertainty and weak corporate earnings negatively impacted markets. On the Brexit front, the UK and the European Union (EU) reached a withdrawal deal, but the deferment of the parliamentary vote in the UK hurt investor sentiment. Elsewhere, the European Central Bank (ECB) ended its asset purchase programme in December 2018, despite signs of a slowdown in eurozone recovery, which weighed on markets. On a positive note, the EU reached an agreement with Italy to revise its budget plans towards the end of the quarter. At a sector level, defensives outperformed cyclicals, with communication services and utilities being the only gainers. Energy stocks declined in line with crude oil prices.

Very Low Low Low/Medium Medium Medium/High High Very High

All investments carry a level of risk. You need to decide how much of each type of risk you're prepared to take. The table below gives an overview of some of the risks associated with this fund.

risk type	description of risk	level of risk for this fund
Capital Risk	This is the risk that the value of your investments will fall. The younger you are, the less worried you might be about capital risk, because your investments have time to recover their value before your retire.	High
Inflation Risk	This is the risk that the value of your investments will grow more slowly than prices rise. Inflation can be a problem for pension savings invested in cash funds particularly if the interest you're earning is less than the rate of inflation.	Med
Pension Conversion Risk	The price of an annuity changes on a regular basis. This means that the amount of income you can secure with the same amount of money will change. Pension conversion risk is the risk that the amount of income you can buy drops before you retire, because your money is invested differently to annuity funds. That's why putting more of your DC pension pot into bonds to try to match annuity prices as you get closer to retirement age can help protect against this risk.	High
